

THE ASSESSMENT OF BUILDING REPAIR NEEDS WITH THE USE OF AN INDICATOR METHOD

BEATA NOWOGOŃSKA

Research Scholar, Institute of Building Engineering, University of Zielona Góra, Poland

ABSTRACT

The progressive degradation of residential buildings is mainly caused by negligence in their maintenance and repair. In order to maintain the facilities it is necessary to properly prognosticate the repair needs. The article presents a method of repair planning for buildings in use. It also demonstrates the results of its application for planning repair needs for residential buildings, which were erected in the traditional technology, located in Zielona Góra.

KEYWORDS: Degree of Technical Wear, Needs Repair, Repair Planning